Extra Credit

Ulysses

Kepley Middle School student Sarah Henderson was awarded second place and a cash prize of $250 for her response to an essay about the importance of knowing a family's health history and what people can learn about their own personal health risk based on this information.

Henderson submitted her essay for the inaugural middle school DNA Day Essay contest through the American Society of Human Genetics and the Genetics Society of America. For more information, visit www.genednet.org or the ASHG Web site at www.ashg.org.
