

SAN DIEGO THANKS YOU

FOR YOUR SUPPORT DURING THE OCTOBER 2007 WILDFIRES

The San Diego Convention Center Corporation is grateful to the entire convention and meeting industry for the tremendous outpouring of support during the recent wildfires in San Diego.

We wish to thank the American Society of Human Genetics, whose annual meeting occurred in our building during the fires, for their incredible response. From selflessly sharing hotel rooms to open up rooms for evacuees, to volunteering medical support in evacuation shelters, to establishing a fund to assist with local relief efforts.

We also wish to thank our dedicated staff, many who were personally impacted by the fires themselves. Because of their commitment, we remained open for business and ready to welcome 30,000 attendees of the Society for Neuroscience to the San Diego Convention Center the following week.

People from around the globe watched as the fires swept through our beautiful county, but the situation brought out the giving spirit in everyone. We invite you all to come to San Diego so we can thank you in person!
