

Please read through each statement below:

- I will only submit one proposal.
- I understand that in submitting a featured symposium proposal, I am authorizing ASHG to contact me about its Annual Meeting, including the status of my proposal.
- I confirm that the co-moderator and all speakers have been informed of this proposal submission and have agreed to all information as it was submitted.
- I understand that as the proposer/moderator, I must notify the co-moderator and speakers of any and all correspondence relating to this proposal submission.
- I verify that any reported human participants research was conducted with participants' voluntary, informed consent, with approval by an appropriate research ethics committee, and consistent with the principles of research ethics, such as those described in the Declaration of Helsinki and the Belmont Report. Investigations involving animals reported in this session must have been conducted in accordance with the FASEB Statement of Principles for the use of Animals in Research and Education.
- I confirm that the moderator, co-moderator, and all speakers have agreed to attend and present this work in person at the American Society of Human Genetics Annual Meeting being held October 20-24, 2026, in Montreal, Canada, if the proposal is accepted for programming. I understand that if I/they do not purchase scientific registration by the presenter registration deadline and attend in person, our proposal may be withdrawn and our opportunity to present in Montreal, Canada, forfeited.
- I understand that ASHG is not making any commitments to host virtual or hybrid content formats and reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to make adjustments to presentation format and style.
